FTSE Russell and BIVA launch sustainable index for the Mexican market: FTSE4Good BIVA

- FTSE4Good BIVA is the first index in Mexico with a global standard of companies that meet environmental, social and corporate governance requirements.
- The index was designed to measure the performance of companies in Mexico that demonstrate strong sustainable practices.

Mexico City – FTSE Russell, a global leader in the creation, calculation and global distribution of indexes and Bolsa Institucional de Valores (BIVA) today announced the launch of the FTSE4Good BIVA Index, with the aim of providing the Mexican market with investment alternatives in transcendental aspects such as environmental, social and corporate governance.

The FTSE4Good BIVA Index responds to the paradigm shift in the way investors now see beyond profitability and income statements, to pay attention to the impact their investments have on society. Similarly, it supports investors who seek to more easily identify sustainable companies.

This index was designed to measure the performance of companies in Mexico that demonstrate strong sustainable practices. To be included, companies must be part of the FTSE BIVA Index, which ensures that they meet minimum size and liquidity criteria as well as FTSE4Good criteria, ensuring a minimum standard in their environmental, social, and corporate governance (ESG) practices.

Sustainable companies go beyond a short-term performance to offer added value to their shareholders by generating profits in the communities where they operate, improving their economic environment and integrating investors into the care and protection of their communities and the world.

“We’re very excited to expand on our local relationship with BIVA to offer more sustainable investment index approaches for Latin American investors,” said Jesus Togno, FTSE Russell Latin America Regional Director. “Applying our pioneering FTSE4Good sustainable investment methodology to our FTSE BIVA Index ensures investors have a reference point to gain efficient and transparent focus to sustainable companies in Mexico.”

Maria Ariza, CEO of BIVA, added: “Sustainability is no longer a fad. Today more than ever companies and investors want to have a positive impact on their communities through practices and actions that improve the quality of life of society, reduce its carbon footprint and have better governance practices so that, in the medium and long term, we have a better world to live in.”

"Globally, companies are increasingly adding to this trend. In the end, those that fail to evolve will have trouble surviving, given that investors and consumers increasingly demand that companies, as well as their products and services, meet high standards of sustainability," said BIVA's director.
Press Release

The FTSE4Good BIVA Index methodology is overseen by FTSE Russell's internal governance framework and supported by the FTSE Russell ESG Advisory Committee, composed of recognized global investment leaders and experts in environmental, social and corporate governance issues at the global level. This is a contribution from BIVA and FTSE Russell to the Mexican market to encourage sustainable investment and encourage companies to meet best practices on ESG issues, all in an endeavour to put Mexico on the map as a responsible investment leader.
