

A New Home on the Web for the FTSE MTS Indices

Announcing some important changes for web users.

Following FTSE TMX Global Debt Capital Markets' acquisition of the MTS index business in April 2014, we would like to inform you that the FTSE MTS Indices website will be migrated to a new home on FTSE's website starting 10 February 2015. From this date the indices will also officially adopt the new FTSE MTS names that were communicated to you on 18 December 2014.

As existing users of the indices, we would like to invite you to see a preview of the new FTSE MTS web pages, and let you know about some important changes that may affect you.

- The MTS Indices website, www.mtsindices.com, will cease to be available from 10 February 2015, and will be redirected to the FTSE website. At this time, the existing daily email notifications will be discontinued.
- Index data will continue to be available for you to download directly from the FTSE.com site at <http://www2.londonstockexchange.com/e/6522/products-mts/ypsx4/591428717> for a limited period, via registration.
- From 1 April 2015 FTSE MTS index data will only be available via FTSE FTP and will be subject to a subscription charge. FTP users will have the option of having the data emailed to them directly, or accessing the data via FTP. Current FTP users will need to re-point to FTSE FTP.

We would like to do everything that we can to support you through this transition. Please contact your FTSE MTS customer representative or contact our Client Services team at info@ftse.com at the earliest opportunity to discuss your needs.
